

Jay Nawrocki

Environmental, Health, and Safety Specialist
KE Indianapolis

▶ Started at Kimball Electronics in 2019

- Jay is a resident of Fishers, Indiana. Outside of the office Jay spends his free time doing yard work, grilling/smoking on his Traeger, or training for his next Mudder or Spartan Race. He is also currently in grad school to earn his master's degree in occupational safety and health.
- The responsibility of Jay's position that he enjoys most is New Hire Training. He thinks it is a great way to meet new employees and get to know everyone over time. The professional achievement he is most proud of is the KEIND facility reaching 2 years without a recordable injury. This accomplishment shows him the success and importance of his work.
- Jay enjoys working at Kimball Electronics because the work we do here makes a real difference and saves lives daily. He values the unique employee culture that is completely unmatched compared to his previous employers. When describing his colleagues he said, "Everyone is personable, honest, and great to work with."
