KESS - New Business Development

▶ Started at Kimball Electronics in 2009

- Len resides in Lyons, Wisconsin where he spends his free time with his family canoeing, hiking, and volunteering. He also enjoys working on prairie and woodlot restoration.

- Len's favorite memory with the company was in his early tenure with Kimball Electronics. Len worked with the China facility to host a new multinational customer to develop their launch plan. The customer was scheduled to spend two weeks at the facility to help Kimball Electronics with the plan, but after the second day they ended up booking their flights home explaining they were impressed with the team's expertise and felt Kimball Electronics could handle the creation of their launch plan on their own.
